

Education Programme

Virtual Sessions

Explore the Museum's collections and stories straight from your classroom or home with our range of live interactive virtual sessions. Our virtual programme is based on our most successful and popular education sessions.

Sessions

The Victorians

The sessions we currently offer are:

- Classroom Roleplay
- Victorian Object Viewing
- Victorian Toys and Games
- Victorian Mills

World War II

The sessions we currently offer are:

- Evacuee Classroom Roleplay
- World War II Object Viewing
- World War II Pastimes

The Museum can also arrange bespoke virtual sessions for classes.

Prices

£60 per hour session for a class of up to 35 pupils.

The costs of bespoke sessions will vary. Please contact the Education Officer to discuss your options in further detail.

How to Book

To find out more or to book please contact our Education Officer on 01376 328868 (Ext.14) or email schools@bdmt.org.uk

Key Features

Sessions can be run from school classrooms or included as part of pupils' home learning timetable during lockdown.

Each session is approximately 45 minutes-60 minutes long and will be delivered by a member of the Museum's Education Team.

Our sessions are interactive and engaging, each one will include:

- Presentations using Microsoft Powerpoint.
- Photographs of objects within the Museum's collection.
- A range of individual and team activities.

Additional physical resources can also be provided to support the session(s). These can be posted to you at an additional cost or collected from the Museum (dependent on current Government restrictions).

We can deliver sessions on a variety of platforms including:

- Microsoft Teams
- Zoom
- School managed platform (delivered as guests)

Once you have booked a session, you will receive:

- Login details.
- Pre-session information and risk assessment.
- Resources and worksheets for session activities (to be printed).
- Pre and post-visit activities can also be provided upon request.